Celebrating our Dedicated Teachers at MindChamps PreSchool @ Raffles Town Club

Last month, we celebrated our Champion Teachers' achievements with flowers, heart-shaped cards and chocolates as a token of appreciation for our dearest educators and role-models.

At MindChamps, we believe that teaching is both an art and a science. All of our Champion Teachers undergo up to 200 hours of mandatory training in the MindChamps Way regardless of their previous experience and qualifications. This equips them to deliver our revolutionary 3-Mind model of the education - the Champion, Learning and Creative Mind along side our proprietary S.M.I.L.E.S.™ teaching methodology.

At MindChamps, we believe in staying ahead of the curve but never ahead of ourselves. Which is why we have two global Teachers' Development and Training days every year to hone our skills in the craft of teaching.

“ Acelyn joined MindChamps in March last year. She was a premature baby born in week 27 and we wanted to ensure that she is placed in a preschool that would ensure her development. With her teachers' guidance, Acelyn has grown well and in line with our expectations.

MindChamps has all along been our preferred preschool due to their curriculum. In addition to the core subjects, they have music and gymnastics.

A big thank you to Teacher Kaori, Teacher Amanda, 丘老师, Teacher Daniel and Teacher Kavisha! ”

Lim Yang Zheng

These events enable our Champion Teachers to connect and learn from fellow MindChamps educators worldwide, including those in Australia, the Philippines, Malaysia, and beyond. This collaboration fosters a global MindChamps Teaching Community and promotes the sharing of best practices, creating an environment where our young preschool Champs can truly thrive.

Pack It Right!

Travelling soon? Whether you are taking a flight for work or leisure, packing your luggage is never a straight forward process of just putting items into the luggage and zipping it up. Study shows that over 60 percent of travellers find it stressful and have trouble with their packing, even for seasoned travellers. Here are some tips to help reduce your packing anxiety:

Luggage size

Select a suitable luggage size that meets your needs while keeping in mind the airline's baggage policy, for instance, allowed baggage weight, number of pieces of luggage allowed and maximum luggage size allowed. By doing so, will avoid unexpected fees at the airline's check-in counter. Also consider the duration of travel and the activities done during your trip.

Make a list

Make a list of items to pack to avoid situation like forgetting your swimwear for your beach vacation. It is recommended to start planning early about a week before your trip so that you will have time to review the list of items you plan to bring. For instance, skipping two outfits since laundry service will be available.

Do not overpack

Pack only what you will need. Build a capsule wardrobe with versatile pieces that is easy to mix and match. Bringing clothing with wrinkle-proof fabric will ensure that you look smart with great convenience. In this way, you can travel light while travelling in style. When travelling to places with cold weather, instead of relying on one thick and bulky jacket, adapt to unexpected temperature shifts with lightweight layers to put on or remove.

Packing the luggage

Maximise your luggage space by rolling your clothes and fitting it into the luggage crevices. Stay organised with packing cubes. Bring toiletries in travel size bottles and pack them into a waterproof toiletry bag to prevent staining other items, in case of toiletries bottle leakage.

Wear bulky items on you when you transit so that more space is available in the check-in luggage. For instance, wear your boots and pack the running shoes in the check-in luggage. Remember to put the heavy items at the bottom of the luggage, as it reduces the likelihood of the luggage tipping over while wheeling it around.

The Essentials

Always keep by your side your passport, copies of important documents, currencies and medication.

Bring a carry-on bag with essentials, such as, a jacket for warmth, water bottle, a spare outfit and toiletries (within airline's allowance). These are precautions taken in case your check-in luggage got lost. Keep an extra foldable bag with you for your souvenirs and shopping!

We hope that these useful tips will make your packing easier and less stressful, making your vacation more enjoyable!

Christmas Foods: A Tasty Tradition

Christmas is a time of joy, family gatherings and of course, indulgence in delightful foods that have become staples of the season. Around the world, these dishes have come to symbolise the festive spirit, each with its unique history and cultural significance. From sweet treats to savoury roasts, let's explore six of the most iconic Christmas foods and their origin.

Roast Turkey

Roast turkey, with its golden-brown skin and tender meat, is perhaps the most iconic Christmas dish. The tradition of eating turkey during Christmas can be traced back to the 16th century in England. King Henry VIII was among the first to enjoy turkey as part of his Christmas feast, replacing earlier dishes like swan and pheasants. Its popularity grew over time, particularly because turkeys were more affordable for larger households than other meat options. Today, this savoury dish is synonymous with holiday feasts, a symbol of abundance and togetherness.

Christmas Pudding

Christmas pudding, also known as plum pudding, has a rich and long history that dates back to medieval England. This dense dessert, packed with dried fruits, spices and a touch of alcohol, was originally a savoury dish made of meat. Over time, it evolved into the sweet version we know today, with suet and breadcrumbs replacing the meat. Christmas pudding is steeped in tradition that it's often made weeks before Christmas and steamed on the day itself. For many families, the act of making the pudding together and then setting it aflame with brandy before serving, adds an extra touch of magic to the season.

Gingerbread

Gingerbread, with its warm spices and sweet aroma, has become a symbol of Christmas baking. This treat originated in Europe in the 11th century when Crusaders brought back spices like ginger from the Middle East. Bakers began adding honey and spices to bread and over time, the gingerbread recipe was refined. By the 16th century, gingerbread men were introduced in the court of Queen Elizabeth I, who would have them made in the likeness of important guests. Today, gingerbread houses and cookies are fun and festive traditions that bring families together.

Mince Pie

Mince pie, traditionally filled with a mixture of meat, fruits and spices, have been a part of Christmas feasts since the 13th century. Returning Crusaders brought back new spices, which were initially combined with minced meats. Over time, the recipe shifted towards sweet fillings, using a blend of dried fruits, sugar and spices. Today, mince pies are a festive favourite, especially good when enjoyed with a cup of mulled wine or tea.

Yule Log Cake

The Yule log cake is a French dessert that represents the Yule log traditionally burned in European homes during the winter solstice. The cake version of the log became popular in the 19th century, made of sponge cake, filled with cream and rolled to resemble a log. Decorated with chocolate icing and often adorned with marzipan mushrooms, it symbolises the end of winter's darkness and the hope of new beginnings. Today, this sweet dessert is a symbol of joy and a favourite on Christmas tables.

Eggnog

Eggnog is a creamy, spiced beverage that has become a holiday classic, especially in North America. Its origins can be traced back to medieval Britain, where a similar drink called "posset" was made with milk and wine. Eggnog evolved as it crossed the Atlantic, with rum being added to the recipe in the American colonies. The richness of eggnog, combined with its warming spices, makes it a perfect drink for cold winter evenings, evoking the coziness and comfort of the Christmas season.

Christmas is not just a time of celebration, but also a period when we connect with time-honoured traditions through food. Whether it is the turkey centerpiece, a pudding soaked in nostalgia or the sweet smell of gingerbread in the air, these iconic dishes remind us of the joy, togetherness and warmth of the season. As you gather with loved ones this Christmas, take a moment to savour the history and significance behind each delicious bite.

This holiday season, treat yourself or surprise loved ones with the finest festive delicacies. From Roasted Whole Turkey to Christmas Log Cake, The Café & Terrace have everything to make your celebrations extra special. Call us at 6357 3332 / 333 to place your order today!
